

I listen to XM radio almost exclusively on my motorcycle, in my truck and at home. If you study what they offer and the fact that you never lose your signal, you will discover that it is a wonderful alternative to broadcast radio that has poor coverage and few choices. I can get the weather and local traffic 24/7 on a dedicated channel for my city and not have to wait until the broadcasters decide it is okay to give the traffic. I travel extensively and this is perfect. I don't have to guess where to find weather and traffic anymore. Please consider the immense value of this medium and don't hamper it's effectiveness
